

Kate Holt/MCSP

USAID
FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Maternal and Child
Survival Program

USAID's Child Survival and Health Grants Program's community-based projects have contributed to ending preventable child and maternal deaths in 65 countries.

Elie Gardner/IntiMedia for Future Generations

Community approaches improve the health of mothers and children.

Future Generations' Sharing Histories trained 33 women to use storytelling techniques and teach their peers about breastfeeding, nutrition, and other health and hygiene topics. The project was focused in Peru's Huánuco Region, with a population of nearly 94,000.

See findings from Final Evaluations, Operations Research reports, and other products:

www.mcsprogram.org/CSHGPproducts